The directors can not help with booking reservations, which everyone has to take for themselves.

What's New:

We will try two new categories in the competition.

Classic Texaco

Electric Glider (OTVR)

You can find the rules of both categories in the "Regulations" menu item.

Remuneration

We will award 1-3 players for each category.

The first winner of the Classic Texaco category, Edward B. Hamler (USA) has donated an Anderson Spitfire engine as a special prize.

We will award the Grand Champion, according to the usual rules. The results are from the scores of individual 1-3 places. First place -3 points, second 2 points, third 1 point. The most scored driver is the first.

We will announce team competitions among nations. The first three members of the nation will receive a diploma. The results are from the scores of individual 1-3 places. First place -3 points, second 2 points, third 1 point. The nation that has earned the most points is the first.

Technical examinations:

We will announce the technical exams in advance so that no one gets any surprises in the race.

Each competitor must bring an original drawing of his model. It should also include a document that verifies the age of the model. The magnified models have to draw a drawing as far as the model itself. Of course, the model should not be forgotten at home.

Each race day, two technical committees will work during the competition, with Hungarian experts and English-language support. The leaders of the nations may, at any time, participate in any committee as observers in the work, but this is not mandatory. Competitors can take exams at any time in those categories that day.

The technical exam is optional but in the finals you can not start a model that did not pass the exam you receive. After finals there is no technical exam, but judges can check that the model has not changed. If it is not decisive, the top three players must be able to show the results of the exam. This lack of exclusion.

In the Technical Exam the following parameters are examined:

- Span, wing depth, body length, stabilizer span, depth, body shape,
- Weight, surface load
- Tolerance in all cases + - 2%
- Classic Texaco and Original Texaco tank capacity
- In Speed 400 and in ElectroRubber engine control.
- Members of the committee have the right to look at anything else but our goal is simple, quick and insightful investigation.

Checking Starts:

Unfortunately, we are not able to guarantee timekeepers for all start site. We will work with supervisory judges who can swing at any time. They will be in a red t-shirt with a certificate on their neck. The competitor is required to ensure that the judge can see his hand. Obstructing the work of judges in any way is immediately excluded.

Protest:

In addition to the usual 50 EUR payment to the Principal Administrator, in writing, in English. Decision on the participation of members of the jury.

In the event of a legitimate protest, the fee will be refunded, otherwise it will remain with the organizer.

Finally:

We want to return to the excellent traditions of the European Championships. In this regard, we would like to provide unrivaled conditions for all our competitors. We want the friendships here to grow stronger and overcome the desire to win at all costs. We are looking forward to welcoming our Polish friends who will probably be taking part in the European Championship for the first time.

Sincerely
Laszlo Torok
